The Time Traveler

If you were from a different time period visiting the present-day world, how would you describe the everyday things around you? Imagine you're a time-traveler who must send back a report to the people of your time. Write what you see.