What's in a Name?

Sometimes people have names that seem to suit their occupations. Sally Ride, for example, is a famous astronaut. Rollie Fingers was a famous baseball pitcher. A judge might be named Justice, or a banker might be named Teller.

Create suitable names for the occupations listed below. Then use three of the people you have named as characters in a dialogue or a short story.

veterinarian	marine biologist	poet
lion tamer	chef	banker
truck driver	waiter	pilot
pediatrician	teacher	artist
telephone operator	accountant	fireman real estate salesperson
